Chicago Conservation

Dear neighbors,

Thank you for your vigilance in notifying neighbors and responding to the alert which assisted the Chicago Police Department in apprehending Isidrio Valverde, 40, in connection with the recent sexual assaults in our community. Valverde was identified as a result of tips given to the police after the alert issued. As a result, Valverde has been charged with aggravated criminal assault, among other charges, and is in custody.

We look forward to working with the Chicago Police Department and the larger community to ensure public safety remains our top priority. To that end, we hope you will join community leaders, the Police Department and safety experts for a community meeting on September 1st where we will continue the important discussion focused on keeping our neighborhoods safe.
