Sara Feigenholtz represents three very progressive areas in the city of Chicago, which include Lakeview, Lincoln Park and Near North neighborhoods. Sara's strong commitment to the residents of her district and sponsorship of historic legislation has earned her a reputation as a highly effective and well-regarded public servant. Her legislative efforts reflect the needs of her constituents and the greater needs of the State of Illinois.

A practicing attorney since 1978, John concentrates on the representation of condominium, homeowner, and townhome associations, as well as civil litigation and personal injury. John believes that to be an effective attorney, one must empathize with the client, and that requires understanding the totality of the client's circumstances, not just their legal predicament.
